

Dana Catherine

With the lyrical honesty of intimate prayer fused with the modern edge of Alessia Cara and the sweet, soulful vocals of Francesca Battistelli, Dana Catherine's music captivates listeners, calling them to dive deeper into the heart of God with childlike surrender.

A young singer/songwriter, speaker, and former youth minister from Raleigh, NC, Dana travels throughout the U.S. to encourage and inspire others with her songs and witness. Growing up in a Catholic family, Dana always had a strong faith, but it wasn't until she went to college at UNC Chapel Hill that her relationship with God truly deepened. Through the ups and downs of college life, Dana began to understand that true and lasting happiness, peace, and purpose is found in Christ alone. Only then did she realize that God was calling her to step out and share His truth and love with others using the musical gifts she was given. Now, Dana finds abundant joy in allowing the Lord to use her and her music for His greater glory. Dana hopes to inspire listeners to place all their trust in God and completely surrender their hearts and lives to Him. Her most current release is Nothing in the World, which follows her debut record, Glorious Horizons.
